

HORSE SHOW ENDS WITHOUT DEFICIT

Total Receipts Aggregated $100,000, With Good Margin of Profit.

JUDGES' AWARDS FIND FAVOR

Return of Many Former Exhibitors Adds to Success of Event.

NEW YORK, November 15.—Every promise made by the National Horse Show Association for its annual exhibition at Madison Square Garden last week was performed. From a spectacular standpoint the show eclipsed all its predecessors, while the decorations and business details more than met the expectations of the visitors to the show. From a standpoint of attendance, entries and prizes, excellence the new board of directors can only feel the utmost satisfaction.

The week's entertainment brought out many new features, all of which served to add to the interest of the show. The visit of the British army officers, the display of heavy draught horses, the water jump and other innovations caught the crowd and drew the largest attendance of the past decade. While no actual figures are obtainable, about $80,000 was taken in at the gate. To this must be added entrance fees, about $15,000, with the sale of the program and privileges, bringing the total receipts to about $100,000. The expenses were unusually heavy, as they included $40,000 in prize money. But a comfortable balance rewarded the management for its efforts. The past few years found a big deficit at the end of each show, and the fact that the new directors were able to make profit in their first year proves that the automobile has not yet driven out the horse.

With proper inducements to the spectacular-loving public, the national horse show may yet take on a new lease of life and regain its former social prestige.

Little Criticism of Judges.

The exhibitors, more numerous than in other years, were generally pleased with the treatment their horses received in the ring at the judges' hands. There was less criticism than in former years, and only one demonstration of disapproval. This was in the pair of harness horses for the champion class, when W. Watson's Kitty Grey and Novena were placed in reserve to William H. Moore's Amyrillis and Phyllis. This was inexplicable to the majority of the spectators, who remembered that on the opening day of the show the judges reversed their decision, placing the Watsons in the lead.

The return of several former prominent exhibitors was one of the pleasing features of the show. William H. Moore made his reappearance after an absence of two years, and Mrs. John Gerken also returned to her old love. Among the harness exhibitors, as seen but once in the ring, as in last year's show, Mr. Thompson's extensive legal business required his attention, and many expressions of regret were heard owing to his non-appearance at the show. He is, however, getting together a big stable of horses for next year.

Keen rivalry shown between the Moore and Watson horses was very keen. The former exhibited a number of high-priced imported horses, which won championships in the big English shows and made practically a clean sweep in the harness classes. Mr. Moore's entry was the most extensive stable of high steppers in the world, and his twenty-two blue ribbons and dozen cups cost him nearly a half a million dollars.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the National Horse Show Association, found very poorly, after he stated after the show closed that he was more than satisfied with the result. Reginald C. Vanderbilt also came out of the show in poor shape, but he was unable to show his best horse on account of illness. This was also the case with Edward Knierim, whose famous gig horse, Dr. Cook, was in the veterinary's hands.

The display of driving six heavy draught horses was the most remarkable ever witnessed the East. The splendid handling of the big horses and the beauty of the teams, and divided with the British officers the honors of the show.

SCOTTSVILLE WINS MEET.

Contests With Albemarle Attract Large Crowd.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SCOTTSVILLE, Va., November 15.—The Albemarle and Scottsville High School held their third semi-annual track meet at Scottsville on Saturday, November 13. The games were witnessed by a large crowd and the events were closely contested. Scottsville won by some forty points, carrying off the trophy, a banner, which was inscribed with the names of the winners. The following were the winners: 100 yds., Hicks, Hunt, Black and Wayland carried off the honors for Albemarle, and Starrett, Agee, J. Pitts, L. Pitts, Londerer, Earl, G. Briggs, J. Briggs and W. Starrett, for Scottsville.

RESULTS IN THE GAME.

Brilliant Contest Between V. P. I. and King College.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BRISTOL, TENN., November 15.—The football game here this afternoon between King College, the home team, and the Virginia Polytechnic Institute's second team was one of the fiercest ever witnessed on the local grounds, and resulted in a tie score of 6 to 6, each having made goal and scored a touchdown. Hundreds of excited admirers witnessed the contest. The first half was played entirely within the home team's lines, while the visitors were steadily pushed back to the goal line in the second half.

OTHER DEATHS FROM FOOTBALL RECALLED

Mother of Georgia Student Deplored Use of Accident as Argument Against Athletic Advancement at the University.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CLARKSVILLE, Va., November 15.—The sad death of Halfback Christian, of the variety football team, recalls that of George R. Phelan, of Memphis, Tenn., who died at the University of Virginia infirmary on the 24th day of November, 1895. Mr. Phelan took part in the football game between the Medical and Law Classes, playing on the team composed of members of the latter class. During the progress of the game Mr. Phelan was seen to fall apparently injured. He then lost consciousness, and in this condition he was taken to the side lines, and Dr. Paul B. Barringer, now president of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, was summoned. The young man was removed to the infirmary, where he died at 8:50 the following morning, without having gained consciousness. At the inquest held that afternoon, Mrs. Buckmaster and Christian, who made the post-mortem examination, both testified that the blood vessel, the rupture of which caused the death, was in a diseased condition and likely to rupture under any violent exertion. There was no evidence of any rough or brutal playing, but, on the contrary, the game was unusually free from it. The verdict of the jury clearly showed that Phelan's death need not be attributed to football.

Mr. Phelan was a second-year student in the law school. He was about twenty-three years of age, of good physique and apparently in good health.

Fatal Injury of Gammon.
In a game between the University of Georgia and the University of Virginia, played in Atlanta, Ga., on October 30, 1897, Von Gammon, Georgia fullback, received a blow on the head which he died at the Grady Hospital within twelve hours after the game. The unfortunate accident, which resulted in Gammon's death, occurred in the latter part of the second half. Gammon was hurt while Virginia had the ball, and never regained consciousness. The play was a straight formation play, and an end runner, who was running with Gammon's death was not in any way blamed on Virginia or the heavy mass formations of football. When the fatal blow was struck, Gammon was known, Captain Morrison, of Virginia, and Captain Kent, of Georgia, agreed to call a halt to the game for the injured player. The fatality created intense excitement. There were over 400 University of Georgia students in the park at the time the accident occurred, and 5,000 other spectators.

MAY ACCEPT OFFER TO MEET KAUFMAN
Brady Insists That Jeffries Take His Proposition Seriously.
W. A. Brady's offer to present $10,000 as a gift to James J. Jeffries and then bet $10,000 on the side if the latter will meet A. Kaufman in a boxing match in ninety days has been pronounced "bunk" and "a joke" by Jeff's manager, Sam Berger, who says there is no public demand for such a match. But Brady declares that he means business, and that Jeffries can win his money by defeating Kaufman in a ten-round bout, not noting that the latter is a professional boxer, while Jeffries is a layman. Jeffries, who seems to be alarmed, declares that Brady is ailing some fancied grievance against him, and is also looking for a fight. He says that he does not want to fight anybody before he meets Johnson, but that Brady's proposition is a match. At any rate, Jeffries and Berger said yesterday that if Brady is on the level he will be on hand when bids for the Johnson fight are opened on December 1, prepared to put up his $20,000; that after the purse and club have been fixed upon, the fight will be a cash deposit of the above amount may be accepted. It is noteworthy that Brady's challenge is in behalf of Kaufman, instead of "will."

Brady promises to be on hand at the appointed time, and says he will make Jeffries either fight Kaufman or show the sporting public he is afraid to disclose his real condition.

Kaufman is as big as Johnson and is only twenty-four years old. He has never been defeated, and is a young giant in strength. Johnson outpointed him in ten rounds recently, but he had had a bad cold in distress. In fact, when the bout ended Kaufman was as strong as a bull and was ready to go any distance. It seemed, if Jeffries was to show the public that he is the Jeffries of a few years ago, Brady says, he will not refuse to take Kaufman on as a sort of "trial horse," for, according to Brady, if Jeffries is himself Kaufman will be easy and the latter can pick up $20,000 without going back into vaudeville.

It has been argued for some time that a stiff ten-round bout with some rugged heavyweight would benefit Jeffries more than "training" in theatres and private gymnasiums, so that a chance to hook up with Kaufman is generally regarded as a good thing for something to conceal from the public the Kaufman bout, of course, will not appeal to him. In making this offer Brady is prompted by the fact that he has lost his money and cannot defeat the negro; that if Kaufman can whip Jeffries the former will be the man to fight Johnson for the public in the next few weeks. Jeffries' episode is lending additional color to the heavyweight situation.

NIMBUS TAKES FEATURE RACE IN DAY'S EVENT

Only Two Favorites Among Winners on Latonia Track. Card a Poor One.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, November 15.—Nimbus won the feature race at Latonia today in easy fashion from a fair field. The card was a poor one, and from somersaults were frequent. Sir Ormonde, in the first race, was the only other winning favorite. Three horses as good as 10 to 1 won. Summary:

First race—selling, six furlongs, purse $300.—Sir Ormonde (3 to 5) first, Colonel Ashmead (12 to 1) second, Long Hand (4 to 1) third. Time, 1:14.
Second race—six furlongs, purse $300.—Sister Phyllis (8 to 1) first, Challice (10 to 1) second, Plum (9 to 5) third. Time, 1:14 3-5.
Third race—mile and a sixteenth, selling, purse $500.—Gorline (7 to 2) first, Ludhiana (10 to 1) second, Lad of Langdon (16 to 5) third. Time, 1:45.
Fourth race—mile, selling, purse $300.—Kiddy Lee (12 to 1) first, My Gal (3 to 2) second, Hatchie Coo (3 to 1) third. Time, 1:41.
Fifth race—seven furlongs, purse $300.—Nimbus (7 to 1) first, Bonnie Bar (6 to 1) second, Pootaligo (7 to 1) third. Time, 1:25 3-5.
Sixth race—mile and a sixteenth, purse $200.—Mamie Algot (7 to 1) first, Harlow (2 to 1) second, Sir Walter Rollins (12 to 1) third. Time, 1:47.

BROWN IS PRESIDENT.

Succeeds Sullivan as Head of Amateur Athletic Union.

NEW YORK, November 15.—Everett C. Brown, of Chicago, was elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union at the annual meeting in New York today, succeeding James E. Sullivan, who had held the office for three years. Mr. Sullivan was chosen for the position of secretary-treasurer today. He declined re-election to the presidency.

Among the many routine matters passed upon at the meeting today was the admission of the Southern California Athletic Association to membership and the adoption of a new rule designed to protect young athletes from overstrain. By this regulation competitors under fifteen years of age are barred from competing in races exceeding five miles.

MANY TEAMS OFFER TO MEET CAROLINA

Doubtful Whether a Game Will Be Played in This City on Thanksgiving Day--Navy Challenges the Tarheels.

After a meeting yesterday of the executive committee of Richmond Chapter of the University of Virginia Alumni Association, Murray M. McGuire, secretary, wired the manager of the Chapel Hill team offering every assistance in securing the Tarheels an engagement in this city for Thanksgiving Day.

The Navy Academy, having been once refused a game at Annapolis, and being unable to leave its own grounds except for the West Point game, wired a second time inviting the Chapel Hill team to its grounds. News from Chapel Hill is that the Navy-Carolina game is a probability.

The United States ship Franklin has asked for a game. In consequence of the Georgetown cancellation of the Washington and Lee game, the Lexington college of last night asked Carolina for a game in this city on Thanksgiving Day. It is certain that one will be arranged for Chapel Hill, either at Richmond, Washington or at Annapolis.

Richmond College and Randolph-Macon are scheduled to play Saturday following Thanksgiving, and as this contest may decide the championship of the Eastern collegiate division of Virginia, there will be a State-wide keen interest in the game. The engagement will not be considered until Carolina has fully determined where she will play on the holiday.

HUTCHINSON-COY ARE BEST SCORERS

Penn's and Yale's Full Back Lead "Big Six" Eleven—Each Score Seven Touchdowns.

Hutchinson, of Pennsylvania, and Coy, of Yale, are on an equal footing for the premiership for point getters among the teams making the so-called "Big Six"—Pennsylvania, Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Dartmouth and Cornell. Until Saturday's games, Marks, of Dartmouth; Read, of Princeton, and Philbin, of Yale, were on a par with Hutchinson and Coy—all five players having had six touchdowns to their credit. Coy and Hutchinson nosen ahead of the track by each scoring a touchdown in his respective game, bringing their total up to seven. Following these players comes Minot, of Harvard, with five.

Yale leads with the number of touchdowns scored, with thirty-two, followed by Pennsylvania, with twenty-one; Harvard, with seventeen; Princeton and Dartmouth, with fourteen each, and Cornell, with eleven. In a way, this furnishes a measure of the scoring ability, or of the offensive strength of the various eleven.

From the 109 touchdowns scored, 54 goals have been kicked. Hobbs, of Yale, leading, with 26, and Bradwood, of Pennsylvania, is second, with 16; Tobin, of Dartmouth, is third, with 13, and next comes Waller, of Princeton, with 12.

Cunningham, of Princeton, still leads the drop-kickers, the Tiger team having a total of 6. Coy, of Yale, is second, with 4.

Yale annexed a safety to her credit on Saturday by forcing McCrohan, of Princeton, over his own goal line.

A summary of the points scored follows:
Touchdowns—Hutchinson, Pennsylvania, 7; Coy, Yale, 7; Marks, Dartmouth, 6; Read, Princeton, 6; Philbin, Yale, 6; Minot, Harvard, 6; Ryan, Dartmouth, 4; P. Smith, Harvard, 4; Long, Harvard, 3; Daly, Yale, 3; Miller, Pennsylvania, 2; Vaughn, Yale, 2; Irwin, Pennsylvania, 2; Ramsdell, Pennsylvania, 2; Young, Pennsylvania, 2; Murphy, Yale, 2; Logan, Yale, 2; Frothingham, Harvard, 2; Francis, Yale, 2; Glass, Cornell, 2; Hoffman, Cornell, 2; Robb, Cornell, 2; Cunningham, Princeton, 2; Tydemann, Cornell, 2; Savage, Yale, 2; Cozens, Pennsylvania, 1; Sommers, Pennsylvania, 1; Marks, Pennsylvania, 1; Bradwood, Pennsylvania, 1; Goss, Pennsylvania, 1; Hobbbs, Yale, 1; Howe, Yale, 1; Deming, Yale, 1; Holt, Yale, 1; Corbett, Harvard, 1; Armstrong, Princeton, 1; Glass, Cornell, 1; Simson, Cornell, 1; Smith, Princeton, 1; Sparks, Princeton, 1; McCormick, Princeton, 1; Kennedy, Princeton, 1; McArthur, Princeton, 1; Dawson, Princeton, 1; Daly, Dartmouth, 1; Dudley, Dartmouth, 1; Ingersoll, Dartmouth, 1; Tobin, Dartmouth, 1; Liley, Yale, 1; Houton, Harvard, 1; Rogers, Harvard, 1.

Goals from Touchdowns—Hobbs, Yale, 26; Bradwood, Pennsylvania, 16; Tobin, Dartmouth, 12; Waller, Princeton, 11; P. Wallington, Harvard, 12; Tydemann, Cornell, 3; Sommers, Pennsylvania, 3; Goss, Pennsylvania, 3; McKay, Harvard, 1; Hoffman, Cornell, 1; O'Connor, Cornell, 1.

Goals from Field—Cunningham, Princeton, 4; Coy, Yale, 4; Thayer, Pennsylvania, 3; O'Flaherty, Harvard, 1; Tobin, Dartmouth, 2; Daly, Yale, 1. Safety—McCrohan, Princeton, made by Yale.
